Alex Capecelatro
Founder & CEO

Description: Discover the future of smart homes with Alex Capecelatro, founder and CEO of Josh.ai, a pioneering AI company shaping the smart home landscape. In this keynote, Alex unpacks Generative AI, unveiling its mechanics and its game-changing impact on smart homes. Generative AI isn't just about understanding; it's about learning and creating. Alex navigates the complexities, explaining how it comprehends user preferences and adapts to contexts. He explores how these algorithms evolve, crafting tailored experiences within smart home setups. Attendees gain insights into how Generative AI enhances automation, refines user interfaces, and bolsters security measures. Through real-world examples, Alex showcases how this tech simplifies tasks and enriches residents' lives. Join us for a session offering a glimpse into the transformative power of Generative AI within smart homes. Gain a deeper understanding of its potential to reshape interactions with living spaces. Don't miss this opportunity to explore the future of smart homes and the role Generative AI plays in revolutionizing them.
